

Commission remission?

If you're in commission remission and are looking for an opportunity to be rewarded for your performance, our Sales Representative opportunities based at Fastway Couriers (Northern Ireland) may be just what you are looking for.

Fastway Couriers has been established in Northern Ireland for 5 years and is the world's largest courier franchise. Our award winning training programmes are comprehensive, and designed to get you selling successfully very quickly.

Working a five day week during standard business hours you'll have plenty of variety in your day as you establish new business for the company, and sell extra services to established customers. You'll be joining a highly successful organisation with a well established market niche and competitive service to offer in the marketplace.

An extremely generous commission scheme operates from day one on all sales you make, and a corporate uniform is provided. You will need to provide you own car.

To discuss this opportunity in further detail please contact Orna McCollum orna.mccollum@fastwayni.co.uk
